2008	$99,446	($99,446)	2.0

Fiscal Analysis

The bill would give the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation authority to regulate the vehicle repossession industry. The agency would be required to adopt rules related to the bill not later than June 1, 2004, and the license would be required as of September 1, 2004.

Methodology

The Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation expects a licensee population of approximately 3,850. It is anticipated the agency would need two additional FTEs to administer the program: one Administrative Technician IV ($37,499 annual salary and benefits) to process and review applications, for continuing education and customer service, and for administration of exams; one-half Investigator IV ($21,158 annual salary and benefits) for investigation of complaints; and one-half Legal Assistant II ($17,664 annual salary and benefits) to process and review whether complaints are jurisdictional. It is assumed the agency can absorb additional administrative functions such as processing mail and reviewing applications with existing staff.

The agency also indicates it would require $25,000 in fiscal year 2004 to develop an exam for licensees. The analysis also includes $18,625 to cover a $5 per licensee TexasOnline fee starting in fiscal year 2005. For travel, equipment, and other operating expenses, the agency would need $16,300 in fiscal year 2004 and $4,500 in each subsequent year.

It is assumed the agency would raise fees from vehicle repossession industry licensees sufficient to cover all costs associated with the program.

Technology

The Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation would require $4,600 for computers and related equipment for additional staff.

Local Government Impact

No fiscal implication to units of local government is anticipated.
